

Creating a supportive learning environment for UK Aid Match grantholders

MannionDaniels is the fund manager of UK Aid Match, a UK government match-funding programme with the dual purpose of tackling poverty through high-quality projects that contribute to the Global Goals and increase the UK public's engagement in international development issues.

Along with our consortium partners, we aim to create a supportive learning environment to help build the capacity of the fund's grant holders and ensure their projects are as impactful as possible. We surveyed UK Aid Match grant holders to see if we were delivering on this ambition.

91%

felt the consortium and their organisation were working towards a common goal

83%

felt there was a supportive environment for project learning and adaptation

2 in 3

had used a UK Aid Match learning opportunity to improve their project approach

75%

felt their feedback is listened to and acted on

100%

would apply for a UK Aid Match grant again

“ I really appreciate how flexible and adaptable and realistic the consortium is...It creates a culture of trust and partnership and I feel that if problems arise we are working together to resolve them ”
